

ABSTRACT

Disclosed are methods for separating, detecting, quantitating and/or isolating predominantly uncharged oligonucleotide analogs, by resolving duplexes of such molecules with complementary or near-complementary DNA or charged DNA analogs.

5 The DNA or charged analog may be labeled for detection purposes.